Union Gains in Auto Industry

6,800 "FEEDER" PLANT WORKERS RETURN TO JOBS

Martin Leads Organization in Drive to Include General Motors

WAY BELIEVED OPEN

Competition May Be Used as "Big Stick"

DETROIT, Dec. 24.—(UP)—The United Automobile Workers' Union, claiming a major victory in settlement of strikes affecting 6,800 "feeder" industry employees, concentrated today on a vigorous campaign drive against the General Motors corporation.

27,000 workers of the Kelsey-Hayes Wheel company and 1,800 men in plants of the Aluminum Corporation of America returned to their jobs, weary after a night of gay celebrations. Their walkout forced curtailment of production in several divisions of the booming automobile industry.

Martin's Demand Strong

Homer Martin, youthful union president, dispatched to General Motors a second and stronger demand for a general conference on labor grievances and collective bargaining. He rejected the company's suggestion that he negotiate through plant managers.

It was indicated that union leaders felt that settlement of the Kelsey-Hayes and Aluminum Corporation strikes had opened the way for a major offensive against General Motors.

Resumption of full time operations in plants of the Ford, Chrysler, and Pierce-Arrow companies, which had been hard hit by the "feeder" industry shutdowns, will enable the union to use competition as a big stick to force settlement of grievances against the big General Motors company.

GOMEZ OUSTED, BRU PROMOTED TO PRESIDENCY

HAVANA, Dec. 24.—(UP)—Vice President Federico Laredo Bru, soldier politician and former revolutionist, became Cuba's 14th president today, succeeding Miguel Mariano Gomez, who was ousted by high-speed impeachment after seven months in office.

OUR WEATHER MAN

Local High Wednesday, 35. Low Thursday, 29.

Forecast Ohio—Generally fair and slightly warmer Thursday; Friday cloudy, followed by rain or snow and colder.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Clarence Hawkes, the "Blind Poet of Hadley, Mass.," who has been sightless for more than half a century, has written for The Daily Herald the following Christmas poem.

The Song of Bethlehem

In a small town, without glory,
Fell a ladder from the skies,
Thus the shepherds told the story,
As they rubbed their sleepy eyes,
And the angels caroled then,
"Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men."

To a world that's dark with rancor,
Full of doubling and of fear,
At each nation's heart a canker,
Comes the Angels' song, this year,
In the silence hear it still,
Peace on Earth, the Heavenly Will.

Put away your drums and thunder,
Put away your thoughts of strife,
Listen to a tale of wonder,
To the story of His life,
To the song that comes to mind,
Ever beautiful and kind.

It's the song for you and me,
Of the Christ Child, long ago,
Of the Great Nativity,
Healing nations of their woe,
Hush each tongue, each heart be still,
Hear again His Christmas Will.

Let us sing the old old story,
That the angels sang of yore,
Sing the anthem of Christ's glory,
Sing it now and ever more,
Let us rise to heights sublime,
Of all the year, at Christmas time.

—Clarence Hawkes.

ONLY WINNERS POCKET PICKING OF DECORATING IS REPORTED BY PRIZES LISTED S E N S E N B R E N N E R

The seven prize winners in the store decoration contest and seven other business places, who in the opinion of the judges deserved honorable mention, were those listed in Wednesday's edition of The Herald.

The list of stores provided The Herald by the committee in charge of the contest and judges included only the prize winners and those receiving honorable mention and was not intended as a list of all stores participating in the contest.

Many other local stores were attractively decorated for the contest.

MRS. ARLEDGE CUT, BRUISED IN AUTO CRASH

Mrs. Mary Arledge, 63, of Route 5, suffered a broken right arm, elbow and lacerations Wednesday about 5:45 p. m. when the Chevrolet coach driven by her husband, George Arledge, struck a guard rail on the approach to the Red river bridge over the Scioto.

Mr. Arledge and Mrs. Frank Anderson, a passenger in the car, escaped with minor cuts and bruises. Mrs. Arledge was treated at Berger hospital.

Deputy Sheriff Earl Weaver investigated the accident.

CHRISTMAS YEAR AGO PRODUCED BLIZZARD, PARALYZED TRAFFIC

Remember Christmas one year ago?

One of the worst blizzards in local weather history hit central Ohio accompanied by a 50-mile an hour wind and sent the mercury down to 3 degrees below zero.

Ohioans returning to their homes from Christmas celebrations were caught in the midst of the snow storm. Traffic was paralyzed.

O.N.G. TRANSFER REPORTS BRING MANY PROTESTS

Petitions Are Circulated by Fraternal Orders to Hit Possible Action

COMPANY C AFFECTED

Adjutant General Marx Holds Solution to Situation

Petitions protesting the proposed removal of Company C, 112th Quartermaster Regiment, from Circleville are being circulated throughout the city by fraternal organizations.

No definite information has been received that the company would be moved, but reports have been circulated a transfer to some other city is contemplated by state officials.

Marx Out of Capital

Adjutant General Emil F. Marx, Columbus, could not be reached by telephone Thursday. Employees at his office reported he was out of the city for the holidays. The petitions are to be sent to either the adjutant general or Gov. Martin L. Davey.

Circleville army men refused to be quoted about the move.

The local company was organized in 1921 by Circleville men. The report it may be transferred to another city has aroused considerable interest.

The company has 15 trucks here at the present time while the full quota is 32.

Much money is sent to Circleville each year to members of the Motor Transport unit.

STATE TO BUILD NEW COURSE FOR TRAFFIC ON CCC

The state highway department is announcing a public hearing in the courthouse Jan. 12 at 2 p. m. at which time objections or protests to relocation of the CCC highway in the northwest part of Pickaway county will be discussed.

The move is made to safeguard traffic on a dangerous stretch of busy highway.

Nearly two miles of highway would be changed under the plan. It passes through land owned by Etta Johnson, Leonard Zimmer, C. W. and Rebecca Turner, J. H. McKinley the Harrisburg Merchants and Farmers bank, and H. B. Cheoweth.

OFFICES OPEN SATURDAY

Although offices in some counties will be closed Saturday, Pickaway county offices will be opened for business.

FIREMEN THANK ALL WHO AIDED IN TOY EFFORT

Firemen asked The Herald, Thursday, to extend their sincere thanks to all Circleville business firms and residents who had a part in making their campaign for toys for needy kiddies such a huge success.

They received sufficient toys to take care of all orders, have a fully equipped workshop, and have received splendid co-operation from residents in every way in conducting their campaign to make every Circleville child "joyfully" happy on Christmas.

SEVERAL GIRLS HURT AS ROCK HITS SCHOOL

HONOLULU, Dec. 24.—(UP)—Several girls were injured today when an eight-ton boulder crashed down Mt. Tantalus and through the Salvation Army girls' home.

Edna Kahookeli, 10, suffered severe gashes in her legs. Other girls were treated for cuts and bruises, most of which were caused by falling house fixtures.

Directors of the home said that several days ago a smaller rock crashed into the house. None was injured then.

The boulder smashed through the front porch of the building, splintered the front wall and lodged against the bathroom. The home consists of several small interlocking buildings built at the base of the mountain.

INAUGURAL FOR MARTIN L. DAVEY HELD JANUARY 11

COLUMBUS, Dec. 24.—(UP)—Governor Martin L. Davey will take his oath of office for his second term, Monday, Jan. 11, with a private, simple ceremony in the executive offices in the presence of his family and a small group of friends. Democratic state chairman Francis Poulson announced today. The oath will be administered at noon.

The governor will deliver his inaugural address at 2 o'clock the same afternoon at Columbus auditorium.

A preliminary-considered plan for a civic luncheon have been abandoned because of the difficulty expected to be encountered in handling and serving such a large gathering. Poulson said.

Informal dances will be held by young Democratic organizations but no plans are under way for an inaugural ball.

SNOW POSSIBLE

Circleville may have some snow for Christmas. The forecast of the weather bureau at Columbus for Friday predicts a change to colder temperatures accompanied by snow or rain.

Santa Claus To Arrive At 7 O'clock Tonight

Santa Claus will arrive at the courthouse shortly after 7 p. m. Thursday to distribute candy, oranges and nuts to Circleville kiddies.

Circleville's Christmas eve programs, sponsored by merchants, business men and industrial firms, will start at 6:45 p. m. with a 15-minute concert of Christmas carols on the courthouse chimneys.

The Rev. S. S. Davis, pastor of Calvary Evangelical church, will deliver a Christmas prayer from the courthouse steps at 7 p. m. Santa Claus will arrive shortly afterward with over 1,100 bags of candy, oranges and nuts for the kiddies.

The courthouse block will be cleared of parked cars for the celebration. Traffic will be detoured on Court street between Franklin and Mound streets so the district will be safe for the children.

DONAHEY MAKES UNIQUE GIFTS FOR INTIMATES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24.—(UP)—About 100 senators, cabinet members, senate employees and newspapermen received unique Christmas gifts this year from Sen. Vic Donahey of Ohio.

They were hand-carved letter openers, made the senator reported, of "aged Ohio hard wood and the lowly corn cob." The senator whittled one or two of them an evening out of mahogany and walnut. They had a short section of corn cob cut to fit into the handle.

MANY FAMILIES GIVEN BASKETS BY SOCIETIES

Forty-eight needy families in Circleville have been provided Christmas baskets by the Benevolent association, Legion Auxiliary, church and school organizations. Miss Clara Southward, social worker of the association, announced Thursday it had issued 26 baskets. Others were provided by the Girl Reserves of the high school and various organizations of local churches.

20 MORE YOUTHS MAY JOIN CCC IN NEXT MONTH

Twenty Circleville and Pickaway county youths will have an opportunity to join the Civilian Conservation Corps during the enrollment to be held between Jan. 1 and 20.

D. H. Marcy, county relief director, announced Thursday the boys selected will fill vacancies caused by discharges of enrollees during the last three months. Boys who go to the camp are expected to remain at least six months.

ALL PAID EARLY

All city officials and employees received their pay checks, due on Jan. 1, Thursday for their Christmas shopping.

COMMUNISM DENOUNCED

Peace in Spain Sought by Leader of Church

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 24.—(UP)—Pope Pius XI, deaf to pleas that he safeguard his failing strength, broadcast to the world today a Christmas message appealing for peace and for a final fight against the forces of communism.

Speaking over a microphone from his sick bed in the Vatican, the pope, wracked by pain, mingled his horror of communism and of the forces which he linked with communism as destructive with his hopes for peace.

Intimates said that the pope was completely exhausted at the end of his address. He drank a cup of hot broth and fell into a heavy sleep at once, they said, dropping back into his bed from which he broadcast.

SIX MEN KILLED AS BIG AIRLINER FALLS IN TEXAS

DALLAS, Dec. 24.—(UP)—Inability to maintain speed when one of its two motors failed was given today as the cause of the crash of a Braniff air liner here yesterday in which six men, all employees of the company, were killed.

W. M. Clough, Braniff purchasing agent, described the accident in an official report to the department of commerce. Agents of the department will make a complete investigation of the accident which occurred while the plane was being tested after a motor replacement.

The plane fell near Love airport, rolled over and caught fire. Four of the passengers presumably were killed instantly. Two were burned to death. Don C. Walbridge, operations manager, was found at the controls when firemen subdued the flames.

The other victims were S. E. Perry, maintenance superintendent, W. T. Chambers, crew chief, and Fred Sleeper, Pascal Florence and Hubert Daane, mechanics.

THREE MONTHS' ILLNESS FATAL TO AGED WOMAN

Mrs. Anna B. Runkel, 71, former resident of Pickaway county, died Thursday at 4:10 a. m. at the home of a daughter, Mrs. George Solt, 918 S. 22nd street Columbus, after an illness of three months.

Mrs. Runkel was a native of Trenton, N. J., but came to Pickaway county at the age of 16.

The funeral will be Saturday at 2 p. m. in Trinity Lutheran church with the Rev. G. L. Troutman officiating. Burial will be in Reber Hill cemetery by Mader's Funeral service.

The body will be at the Mader home until the hour of services. Friends may call after 9 a. m. Friday.

Mrs. Runkel was born March 13, 1865 a daughter of P. T. and Elizabeth Wilson Runkel. She married William H. Runkel Feb. 7, 1886.

The husband, six children, Mrs. George Solt, Columbus; Mrs. Ethel Trimmer, Circleville; Cecil, International Falls, Minn.; Mearl LeCelecia, Los Angeles; Clayton Runkel and Mrs. Mildred Wheeler, Columbus, survive. There are also four brothers and two sisters.

Mr. Hays reported the postoffice business this year will far surpass that in any year since he has been postmaster. He became postmaster in 1933. Figures on the postal business will be reported Saturday.

Santa Really Should Read His Mail

Santa Claus had a big time, Wednesday evening, when he passed out gifts to children participating in the Sunday school program at the Methodist church. Accompanied by jingle bells, a trumpet and other fanfare, the big red-faced fellow marched down the middle aisle of the main auditorium at the conclusion of the interesting program.

The appearance of the bearded patriarch frightened one little girl so much that she screamed and ran to the rear of the platform. The child was finally removed from the stage by one of the teachers.

St. Nicholas "knew his stuff," because he told many of the children what they wanted. He struck a tartar in Bobby Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Phillips, when he said: "And, what do you want Santa Claus to bring you, Bobby", and Bobby replied: "I want you a letter, didn't you read it."

The kiddies were thrilled by the appearance of Santa, all having a good time.

Candy and oranges were presented each of the children at the end of Santa's visit.

The program was directed by Mrs. Lawrence Johnson. Miss Gene Rader and other teachers in the Sunday school department.

ALL LOCAL MAIL TO BE CLEARED BEFORE EVENING

All mail arriving at the Circleville postoffice Thursday will be cleared before 6 p. m.

A. Louise Hays, postmaster, said special delivery packages only will be delivered Friday. The postoffice will close at 6 p. m. Thursday until 7:30 a. m. Saturday.

Mr. Hays reported the postoffice business this year will far surpass that in any year since he has been postmaster. He became postmaster in 1933. Figures on the postal business will be reported Saturday.

ANY LEADING FARMERS HAVE PROGRAM PART

Twenty-Fifth Week For Rural Folk to be January 25-29

MANY PARTS REPRESENTED

Agronomy Discussion Lasts
Through Five Days

COLUMBUS, Dec. 24. — Ohio farmers who have worked out successful systems on their own farms will have a prominent part in the 25th anniversary Farmers' Week program at Ohio State University, January 25 to 29.

The University agronomy department has already received the promises of W. N. Woods, Maumee; L. S. Finley, Millersburg; Ira Blocker, Greenville, and L. R. Deist, Beverly, to tell how the practices recommended by research and extension men have worked out on their own farms. These farmers live in different parts of the state so their problems have been typical of those confronting a majority of Ohio land owners.

Mr. Woods has been given the topic, "Producing Seed of Hybrid Corn," which is one of major interest in Ohio now. Yield tests have proved the superior yielding abilities of some hybrid strains as compared with the yields of common varieties. Production of hybrid corn involves the purchase each year of new seed supplies because seed cannot be selected from the year's corn crop. The production of this seed may become a specialized business for a group of farmers who will devote the extra time and attention needed.

Time Use Talked
L. S. Finley will discuss the use of time, the growing of alfalfa, and the advantages of strip cropping on rolling land. The discussion will be on a practical basis as Mr. Finley has the problem of all farmers, he must make a living from the farm at the same time he is making the improvements which increase its productivity.

Changes that have occurred in the 25 years during which Farmers' Weeks have been held will be mentioned in the talk by Ira Blocker. His comments on methods of tilling the land will involve mention of the possibilities of changing soil handling practices when invention or improvements bring new tools to the farmer. The question of whether farmers can afford to scrap old tools or methods and adopt new ones will be answered, at least partially, in this talk.

Time, legumes, and livestock in eastern Ohio will be the basis for Mr. Deist's presentation of his experiences in handling soil which is subject to erosion. Those who hear him cannot dismiss the ideas he presents by saying they sound good but are impractical for farmers. The methods have been tested where they must pay or be discarded.

The agronomy program runs through all five days of Farmers' Week. Members of the University and Experiment Station staffs and other leaders in research and extension work in agriculture are listed for appearance during the week. Forum discussions where everyone has a chance to give his opinions will be held on four days. The annual Crop Improvement Association dinner has been set for Monday night.

Santa Needs a Larger Toy Bag This Year!

In Santa's 1936 bag of toys

NEW YORK CITY — Santa Claus is out shopping for a new toy bag!

And it's all because the one he used during the depression years since 1929 has suddenly become too small.

Last year the white-bearded, old chimney-climber tucked two hundred million dollars' worth of toys into his bag.

This Christmas season, toy manufacturers (Santa's real assistants) already have thrown up their hands in despair. Not because holiday sales will top last year's output by 15 per cent, but because shortage of wood and other special stuffs mean that not every believer in Santa will get precisely what he writes the old gentleman for.

Less than 20 years ago, America's Kris Kringle toy fabricators got their first big start. When the World War broke out, Santa's most famous assistants lived and worked in the great toy-making towns of central Europe. Promptly with the call to arms, Santa's European assistants flocked into the trenches, dropping their little lead soldiers to become real ones instead. America found itself literally with empty stockings on Christmas Eve. Feverishly America's toy-makers set to work, but for the first few years they were hopelessly swamped.

Toys Show Great Progress
A visit to Manhattan's great department store toylands reveals how well America has learned to manufacture what Santa Claus likes. Toys have progressed from the simple building blocks of father and grandfather. Ninety per cent of today's playthings imitate adult activity, in science, in home-making, in baby dolls, fashion, art and transportation.

From toy models of the Empire State building and the George Washington bridge to a hand-driven film talkie of Popeye the Sailor man, young America now begins to learn his every-day world within the nursery.

To be sure, there are Shirley Temple dolls in a dozen varieties, and the Dionne quintuplets now are made as little ladies to represent their present ages. And there are hosts of games which poke fun at the depression or use economic principles for amusement, such as Monopoly and its imitations.

But an observer who follows the youngsters around, up and down the store aisles, finds himself being led to an age old fascination as the twinkle-headed toys stare through the glass tops of the cases and cry out in awe at toy soldiers. America's youngsters, as yet free from the compulsory military panoply forced on children of Germany and Italy, find their soldier instincts in small imitation of the real thing. Toy-makers have gone a long way toward grim realism.

The boy today can have miniature howitzers, for example, that shoot formidable imitation steel shells.

The lead soldier is a perennial favorite. His late majesty, King George V, of England, owned and was proud of his collection of toy soldiers, one of the largest in the world. His little leaden recruits were exact models of his own favorite regiments down to the tiny insignia of Buckingham's own horse guards. Today, anyone can buy correctly uniformed soldiers and officers, an elegant fort, with armored turrets, and a most running around for protection. In addition, there are caterpillar war tanks that rumble around the floor, propelled by clockwork and firing tank guns with startling reality.

And there are steel gray battle-ships of the line, in every conceivable model. Submarines, too, and little blue sailor gobs standing at salute by the stern rail as the U-boat rides through the seas. There are even coast guard vessels perfectly modeled down to the famed one-pounder cannon on the aft deck.

Aircraft has within recent years supplanted toy trains as the reigning favorite of youth. Now there are models to suit every fancy, any purpose. "Build your own plane" sets. Exquisitely miniature models of the American air force. Martin bombers, navy seaplanes, pursuit and combat craft with toy machine guns mounted in the front cockpits. And there are even dirigibles and captive balloons, and handsome transport planes. And for the first time since the war, toy departments are showing miniature German planes with their bright black crosses, as if today's toys must keep up with the developments in the grownup world outside. For, last year, Fascist Germany discarded the military restrictions of the Versailles treaty, announced it had built up a powerful air force.

Another popular toy is an imitation "tommy" gun, spitting red flame. It is a miniature of the U. S. G-man's favorite weapon. Toy manufacturers, however, are quick to declare that military toys represent only 1 per cent of total toys sold, that they cannot help but follow trends of the times. Children, they hold, played G-man and gangsters with wooden guns long before the toy-makers came to their help with the miniature but accurate weapons. At least, that is their excuse to protesting club women.

F. D. JR. MISSES HOLIDAY

BOSTON, Dec. 24 — (UP) — Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., 24, who is confined to Phillips house of Massachusetts general hospital with a sinus infection, will be unable to spend Christmas at the White House with his family and fiancée, his doctor announced today. Plans had been made for young Roosevelt's departure tomorrow.

Under any circumstance one must admit this — Mrs. Simpson took all those old Mae West jokes out of circulation.

HAWAII TO GET COLLECTION OF ORIENTAL LORE

HONOLULU (UP) — David L. Crawford, president of the Oriental Institute of the University of Hawaii, has announced that 25,000 books representing one of the finest collections in the United States of Oriental writing, has been obtained for the library of the institute.

While still in the formative stage, the institute expects to have eventually a staff of at least 10 lecturers and research workers, and will concentrate in Hawaii all available literature dealing with the Pacific area.

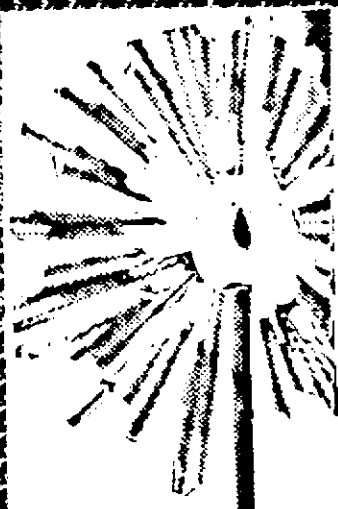

Foundation of such an institute in this city half way between the Orient and the Occident, first was suggested two years ago by Prof. Gregg M. Sinclair, its director. Financial support was forthcoming without delay from two local families, which contributed $25,000 toward launching the organization.

"Men like Baron Dun and

Prince Tokugawa in Japan, Lin Yu Tang and P. C. Chang of China, Tagore and Gandhi in India, H. G. Wells and Bertrand Russell in England are showing a great interest in the new venture," Crawford declares.

STEPS TAKEN TO NAME ROUTE 22 TO HONOR GENERAL SHERMAN

LANCASTER AND OTHER CITIES TO BOOST PLAN

Bronze Plaque in Home Town Now Only Mark in Man's Honor

ROAD BECOMING POPULAR

Direct Route South From New York Provided

Route 22 from Zanesville to Cincinnati may soon be known as the "Sherman Highway."

Lancaster citizens are boosting a movement for the new name in honor of Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman, whose birthplace was in the Fairfield county city.

Plans are being worked out to have towns and cities along the highway form local committees to back the proposal. No legislative action is planned since the highway will follow federal and state highways throughout.

Starts in Zanesville

An earlier suggestion had been to call the artery the "Sherman-Sheridan Highway." Boosters decided the name was too long. The proposed highway starts in Zanesville, over what is known as "Zane's Trace." The road, however, fails to follow the original course taken by Zane on his early trail.

The highway has become one of the most direct routes south from New York, and travel on the road is rapidly increasing. It passes through Somerset, birthplace of Gen. Phil Sheridan, Civil War hero, to Lancaster, Amanda, Circleville, Washington C. H., Wilmington and ending at Cincinnati.

Memorial to General

Lancaster's only mark signifying the city as birthplace of the Civil War general is a bronze plaque adorning the wall of Sherman's birthplace on Main Hill. The road would be a memorial to the general whose march through the south broke the rebellion.

Ski-Dinner Suit

THEY CALL this the "Sun Valley Ski-Dinner Suit," because it may be worn on the snowy slopes of the hills for skiing, and then appear at dinner and in the club or hotel lounge for the evening.

The suit is made of navy gabardine, piped in red and white. The cap is also navy gabardine, the shirt is plaid flannel, and the dark stockings below the ski knickers have a ladder stitch, new this season.

TURKEY, GOOSE, CHICKEN FOUND ON YULE MENU

A variety of meats will be served in the various institutions of Circleville and Pickaway county for Christmas dinner.

The eighteen patients in Berger hospital will have turkey with all the trimmings. Roast goose will headline the menu at the Home and Hospital where seven ladies now reside. The 38 kiddies at the Children's home will work on turkey and chicken.

Prisoners in the county jail, of which there are 13, one a woman, will have roast chicken with all the trimmings. Roast pork will be served at the County home. There are 41 residents in the home at the present time.

To all of you, our friends and patrons, we wish a very MERRY CHRISTMAS and Holiday Happiness.

CIRCLEVILLE COCA-COLA BOTTLING WORKS

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

One of the theatre's more intense dramas, "Winteret," from Maxwell Anderson's play comes to the Cliftona theatre Friday and Saturday as a notable screen presentation. It is this play for which New York Dramatic Critics Circle awarded Anderson a plaque signifying his work as the best of the year.

Burgess Meredith, and Eduardo Ciannelli, who won the unanimous praise of critics and public alike in the original Broadway cast, enact the same roles in the current pictorialization.

With the settings and atmosphere greatly enhanced by the flexibility of the motion picture camera, "Winteret" strikingly reveals romance arising out of the grim efforts of a young man to vindicate the name of his father who died the victim of a vicious gang plot, a cold-blooded judge and a jury influenced by mob hysteria.

The youth's wide-flung search for the real culprit in the crime for which his father died, leads him about New York where fate joins him with the man he seeks, other guilty persons, the merciless judge—and a lovely girl who ironically blocks his life's objective when he learns that her brother is the key witness he seeks.

Martha Rayes' latest starring feature "Hideaway Girl," is the other half of this outstanding double bill.

AT THE GRAND

"Love Letters of a Star," the Universal film which opened yesterday at the Grand theatre, is an exciting mystery that does not reveal the person who commits the crime until the last sequence of the picture. The action flows rapidly, the suspense keeps mounting and the drama fairly crackles with intensity. The narrative is made sprightly with a sufficient blending of romance and passages of humor. The story reveals the thrilling incidents in the lives of family that is hounded by a blackmailer. The net which entangles them becomes more entangled when the family is suspected of murdering the man, who comes to his end under strange circumstances. Then another victim meets his fate in an unusual manner.

AT THE CIRCLE

A High School glee club, singing in perfect seriousness, can still provide hilarious comedy. This was demonstrated on the set of "Ah Wilderness!" Eugene O'Neill's great American drama, which Clarence Brown directed for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

A glee club sings a class song of 1906 with lyrics by a student, set to the music of "The Blue Danube." The rendition of the song, of course, is just as if directed by a school teacher of the day. The youngsters sing seriously, but the old-fashioned lyrics, coupled with the Strauss music, make it extremely funny. Now showing at the Circle theatre.

AT THE CIRCLE

Cliff Nazarro, noted N. B. C. radio singing star and comedian, who plays the comedy role of "shorty" in Spectrum Picture's new musical western "ROMANCE RIDES THE RANGE," at the Circle theatre has recently been signed on Fred Astaire's radio hour to be broadcast over the NBC network on Friday and Saturday.

SALES TAX JOB MAY GO INTO POCKET UNDER NEW ACT

Ohioans Must Pay State
At Least 3 Per Cent
of Taxable Sales

Law Stresses Necessity For Collection

COLUMBUS, Dec. 24 — (UP)—Every retail merchant in Ohio, beginning Jan. 1, will be liable for tax payment amounting to at least 3 per cent of his taxable sales, even if he fails to collect that amount from his customers by the stamp receipt methods.

That provision was the major change written into the sales tax law passed by the legislature.

The bracket system makes the tax on may sales higher than 3 per cent. It is 10 per cent, for example, on a 10-cent sale. Because of that fact, actual tax collections in many lines of business exceed 3 per cent on gross taxable sales.

Where that is true, the merchant is liable for the full amount collected. Under the new 3 per cent rule, however, his liability never can fall below the 3 per cent level.

If he collects less than 3 per cent, he will have to pay the difference out of his own pocket.

The new section was inserted in the law to protect the state against losses due to merchants' failure to collect the sales tax or failure to remit the full amount collected.

Testifying before the senate taxation committee, Vice Chairman Carlton Dargusch of the State Tax Commission estimated that collections in 1936 would have amounted to 3.17 per cent if the 3 per cent minimum rule had been in effect this year.

DIET AND HEALTH

Rules to Lessen Hazards of Week After Xmas

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
THIS COLUMN hopes that all of its readers had a merry, safe and happy Christmas.

The week between Christmas and New Year's usually is not a very busy one. There is not much to occupy business people. But there is one piece of business that everybody can attend to, and that is to get the Christmas tree out of the house before it dries up and becomes a fire hazard.

Christmas time is distinctly a fire hazard period, and an analysis of 245 Christmas fires showed the following causes: Christmas tree fires caused by smoking and carelessness with matches; candles on Christmas trees; short circuits and defective wiring; electrical toys; defective wiring; candles as decorations other than on trees.

In Dayton, O., a few years ago, Christmas fires virtually were prevented by the local safety council, which attached cards to each of the 20,000 trees sold in the city listing a half-dozen or more cautions regarding the hazards connected with Christmas trees. Here they are:

"Avoid lighted candles in the decoration of the tree.

"Use carefully wired electric lights.

"Place the tree a safe distance from the stove or fireplace.

"Use metal tinsel for trim, and

mas tree. The pupils of our room are bringing in things to decorate our tree and our room.

We are making decorations for our burlap.

We have a new girl in our room. Her name is Ann Brinker.

Seventh Grade

In Physical Education the Luckies won the trophy which was a jar of hard candy.

We chose new teams and are going to play a fifteen game schedule. The name of the teams are: Whoppers, Jellybeans, King Edward, Nine Bums, Neck Breakers and Crooks.

In art we are drawing Christmas decorations. We are going to use them on our Christmas tree and in our room.

In science we played another ball game. The Whitesox won.

Marvin Davis moved to Chillicothe now our grade consists of twenty-eight pupils.

We have the Chapel Program this week. It was postponed last week.

The highest scorers on the Every Pupil Tests were: History—Gladys Bowshier; Geography—Max Neal; Arithmetic—Maxine Drake; and Science—Mack Drake.

On the honor roll this six-weeks is Gladys Bowshier.

Eighth Grade

The eighth grade has lost two members of the class, Charles and Dorothy Neal.

The volleyball teams came to the end with the Luckies winning. We decided to have another tournament so we organized different teams.

In the Every Pupil test John Willbarger made highest in science. Jack Walker made highest in arithmetic and Nellie Noggle got highest in history.

We are studying the Constitution in history.

The honor roll for this six weeks is Marjorie Hill and Nellie Noggle.

Freshman News

The freshman class is having a treasure hunt Thursday after school. We are divided into two sides, the Pirates side and the Faithful side. After the treasure hunt we will eat supper at the school building.

We are sorry to lose Martha Davis who moved to Chillicothe.

Sophomore News

The sophomore class held a party Tuesday, December 8th, at the home of a member, Henry Drake. Those that were present were Sarah Pollard, Maxine Timmons, Martha Jane Hott, Eileen Nichols, Opalbe Beavers, Bobbie Trego, Harold Norris, Junior Rodgers, Max Brooks, Lewis McCain, Don Neal, Lawrence Neal, Dwight Haughn, Charles Carfrey, Robert Prindle and our advisor, Mr. Mearns. The menu was baked beans, scalloped potatoes, sandwiches, cocoa, fruit salad, pickles, cookies. The remaining part of the evening was spent playing games. Everyone departed enjoying the evening very much.

Junior News

Last Friday night at the Ashville basketball game the junior class made $5.20 from the sale of popcorn, candy, ice cream bars.

The junior class has the honor of having the high school attendance cup placed in their home room for another month. This makes the second time they have had the highest attendance according to the monthly reports.

Senior News

The following seniors have had their photographs taken at Baker's Studio in Columbus in preparation for the senior class picture of the graduating class of 1938-37: Raymond Hott, Emerson Sheets, George Neal, Laura Nichols, Malcolm Williams and Lawrence Williams.

Several of the seniors represented the school in the Music Festival.

Our Scioto boys swung into action last Friday night by the second team beating Ashville 27 to 15, with the high score man being Harold Wilson with six points. The score at the half was 7 to 6.

The first team boys held Ashville to 7 points in the first half. Our boys rolled up sixteen points, which gave them a 9 point lead. At the end of the game the score was 26 to 13. The center, Waldon, from Ashville was held scoreless, but his man Earl Wilson, tallied 7 points. Other high men were Virgil Beaver and Smoke Williams. The Ashville high scorer was Gregg. The referee was Lone-necker from Columbus.

Last Friday night, on the Scioto floor was witnessed one of the closest games of the season. The Ashville and Scioto girls showed some good basketball playing with neither team being superior to the other. However, when the final whistle blew the Ashville girls happened to have a one-point lead. The final score was 30-31.

On December 10 when the Scioto girls met the Washington girls they gave them a very sweet lesson in basketball. They were just plain good or lucky. You take the guess. Nevertheless the Washington girls showed they were good sports and took a 29-11 defeat with a hearty smile.

The Big Reds from Scioto continued their winning streak Thursday evening on the Washington court by downing the purple and white to the tune of 37-11. The game produced no particular thrills because Scioto took an early lead and then played rather cautiously. Eight men contributed to the score with V. Beavers high point man with eight counters, and Rogers and Earl Wilson following closely with seven each. Knece registered eight points on long shots for Washington. The next league game for Scioto will be Jackson on the Red floor, December 18th.

Junior News

Last Friday night at the Ashville basketball game the junior class made $5.20 from the sale of popcorn, candy, ice cream bars.

The junior class has the honor of having the high school attendance cup placed in their home room for another month. This makes the second time they have had the highest attendance according to the monthly reports.

Senior News

The following seniors have had their photographs taken at Baker's Studio in Columbus in preparation for the senior class picture of the graduating class of 1938-37: Raymond Hott, Emerson Sheets, George Neal, Laura Nichols, Malcolm Williams and Lawrence Williams.

Several of the seniors represented the school in the Music Festival.

Sports

Our Scioto boys swung into action last Friday night by the second team beating Ashville 27 to 15, with the high score man being Harold Wilson with six points. The score at the half was 7 to 6.

The first team boys held Ashville to 7 points in the first half. Our boys rolled up sixteen points, which gave them a 9 point lead. At the end of the game the score was 26 to 13. The center, Waldon, from Ashville was held scoreless, but his man Earl Wilson, tallied 7 points. Other high men were Virgil Beaver and Smoke Williams. The Ashville high scorer was Gregg. The referee was Lone-necker from Columbus.

Last Friday night, on the Scioto floor was witnessed one of the closest games of the season. The Ashville and Scioto girls showed some good basketball playing with neither team being superior to the other. However, when the final whistle blew the Ashville girls happened to have a one-point lead. The final score was 30-31.

On December 10 when the Scioto girls met the Washington girls they gave them a very sweet lesson in basketball. They were just plain good or lucky. You take the guess. Nevertheless the Washington girls showed they were good sports and took a 29-11 defeat with a hearty smile.

The Big Reds from Scioto continued their winning streak Thursday evening on the Washington court by downing the purple and white to the tune of 37-11. The game produced no particular thrills because Scioto took an early lead and then played rather cautiously. Eight men contributed to the score with V. Beavers high point man with eight counters, and Rogers and Earl Wilson following closely with seven each. Knece registered eight points on long shots for Washington. The next league game for Scioto will be Jackson on the Red floor, December 18th.

Color Scheme of
One Hostess

Modernistic Christmas table in white and gold; above, center, Della Robbia style wreath which uses fruits and berries.

"LET'S HAVE Christmas decorations a bit different this year," is the plea of the woman who craves variety in her home decorations. Fir, evergreens, poinsettias, tapers and tinsel epitomize the spirit of Christmas in the highest degree, and while all these materials have been used year after year, it is in their unusual treatment and placing that distinction is gained.

With florists offering all types of flowers and all sorts of Christmas accessories for decorative purposes, any woman can find a rich field for her talents. When it comes to a color scheme she can choose red and green, red and white, blue and silver, white and gold or any other striking combination.

Most of us still cling to red and green for Christmas decorations—somehow these colors have a psychological reaction that spells "Christmas". And in order to illustrate how effective this age-old combination is, spread across the whiteness of the table cloth a broad red satin ribbon with large bows at each end. This gives the effect of a huge Christmas package. Gay poinsettias, winter berries and holly leaves can be used to form a low centerpiece which is flanked on both ends by Christmas trees made of red celluloid balls imbedded in white pots.

White, Gold Popular

White and gold is becoming a popular color scheme for Christmas, especially for modernistic rooms. Above, is pictured a lovely setting for a table using this combination. The cloth is gold foil centered by a white star. Following out the theme of modernism, the flowers are arranged flat in a star-shaped porcelain container. They are white carnations and lilies of the valley. Gold grapes placed on both sides add a rich touch. The unique streamlined Christmas trees are probably the tables high point of interest. These trees are made of copper screening spangled with gold stars. When the tapers are lit star shadows play about the walls, adding an eerie Christmas touch. Florists are becoming very clever in fashioning all sorts of decorative accessories and their use of cellophane quills is fascinating. For instance there is a crystal tree made of these quills combined with blue balls. Another tree is crystal with silver balls carrying out the bright chrome of the pot. More conventional is a small tree, made of bright Jerusalem cherries, pine cones and barberry. These trees in pairs, combined with tapers to carry out their coloring are effective mantel decorations.

The something "different" in Christmas wreaths is the Della Robbia styles now being offered by florists. These wreaths combine evergreens, winter berries, gourds and fruits of all colors. The fruits and berries are shellacked to give them a high gloss and keep them fresh.

Many other highlights will be included in the holiday radio performances beginning early in the morning and continuing through the entire day.

Victor Herbert's operetta, "Babes in Toyland", will be heard at 9 a. m. on NBC. At 9:15 a. m., CBS, Bob Trout, will play Santa Claus to a group of orphans. The Saint-Saens Christmas Oratorio will be carried over NBC at 2 p. m.

Pickups from a fishing-fleet in Vancouver, community singing from Halifax and Toronto, and a description of a children's sleighing party at Winnipeg will make up an hour's program from various Canadian provinces at 4 p. m. NBC.

THURSDAY'S BEST

The famous Paulist choir, singing Christmas carols, will be Kate Smith's guests at 8 p. m. CBS.

NBC offers Jerome K. Jerome's drama, "The Passing of the Third Floor Back," at 10 p. m.

Jose Iturbi, famous Spanish conductor and pianist, plays as Bing Crosby's guest on the Music Hall program at 10 p. m. over NBC.

RETHBERG AND PINZA

Coming from their first joint American tour, two great stars of the Metropolitan Opera—Elisabeth Rethberg, soprano, and Ezio Pinza, bass-baritone—will be the joint featured soloists of the General Motors Concerts program of Sunday, Dec. 27.

The renowned singers will appear separately and in duets, together with the symphony orchestra conducted by Erno Rapee. The usual nation-wide hook-up of the NBC-WEAF network will broadcast the program between 10 and 11 p. m.

Each a great singer, the appearance on a broadcast together of Rethberg and Pinza will be a notable evening among the "Sunday Nights at Carnegie Hall" program.

IS THERE A SANTA CLAUS?

(The following editorial first appeared in the New York SUN, September 21, 1897, and has been reprinted by that paper every year. Written by Francis P. Church it has been considered one of the most famous editorials ever penned. The "little girl" who wrote the letter is now Mrs. Edward M.
Douglas, a vice-principal in the New York public school system.—Ed.)

WE take pleasure in answering at once
and thus prominently the communication below, expressing at the same time
our great gratification that its faithful author is numbered among the friends of The SUN:

"Dear Editor:

I am 8 years old.

Some of my little friends say
there is no Santa Claus.
Papa says 'If you see it in The SUN it's so.'

Please tell me the truth, is there a Santa Claus?

Virginia O'Hanlon,
115 West 95th Street"

Virginia, your little friends are wrong.
They have been affected by the skepticism
of a skeptical age. They do not believe except they see. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's, are little. In this great universe of ours man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole of truth and knowledge.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus.
He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! how dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus!
It would be as dreary as if there were no
Virginias. There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight.
The eternal light with which childhood
fills the world would be extinguished.

Not believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the Chimneys on Christmas Eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus.
The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn?
Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders there are unseen
and unseeable in the world.

You tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which
not the strongest man, nor even the untied
strength of all the strongest men that ever

ITALIANS FIGHTING IN SPAIN

ROME—Not a line appears about it in the Italian press, but increasing Fascist supplies and men are pouring into Spain to aid the wobbling rebel forces of General Franco.

Best inside information is that at least 5,000 Italians are now fighting in Franco's
army, and their number is being increased steadily.

Troops are being paid 50 lire a day
($2.10), big money for an Italian soldier.
There is no compulsion upon them to enlist, but with troops coming home from Ethiopia, and jobs scarce as hen's teeth in Italy, it is not hard to get recruits.

Officially, Italian troops are paid by General Franco. But that is mere bookkeeping. Actually they are paid with funds
advanced Franco by Mussolini.

For if Franco fails, Mussolini gets one of the worst slaps-in-the-face of his entire foreign policy. He has already recognized Franco as the official government of Spain.

BREAD AND CIRCUS

How Mussolini maintains his popularity
in Italy was illustrated the other day when,
without warning, he hopped off his motorcycle at Vittoria, the model settlement a la Tugwell which has transformed the Pontine marshes.

Mussolini has the habit of jumping
about by plane or motorcycle to inspect
this playground or that settlement, without any advance notice. This time nobody realized at first that it was the Iron Man of Italy who had arrived.

Going upstairs to one room in a model
tenement, he looked it over carefully, pulled out a bureau drawer. His interest led the old woman whose home he had entered
to complain about the bread. It was terrible, she said.

Mussolini demanded to see it, tore off a piece, ate it.

"This is much better bread than I ate
during most of my life," he pronounced,
"and there were months when I could not afford any bread at all."

DUCE VS. KING

Mussolini is one man who matches
Franklin Roosevelt in his consummate
ability to sense political situations.

Il Duce, popular as he is in Italy, is careful never to crab the limelight of the King. Victor Emmanuel, he knows, has the deep-rooted affection of the Italian people.
He is a figurehead, a sentimental symbol,
the oldest king in Europe, and they love him.

Therefore, when the King appears in public, Mussolini is careful to remain in the background. If there are any bows to be taken from balconies and Il Duce is present, he always stands behind. At the dinner given to Admiral Horthy, regent of Hungary, Mussolini sat at one side. The King did the honors Il Duce did the behind-the-scenes wire pulling.

lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy,
poetry, love, romance, can push aside that
curtain and view and picture the supernal
beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing
else real and abiding.

No Santa Claus? Thank God he lives,
and he lives forever. A thousand years
from now, Virginia, nay, ten times ten thousand years from now, he will continue
to make glad the heart of childhood.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . . Hour by Hour

PAGES from the Diary of an Antiquated Reporter:

Awake in the quiet, black
hour before dawn, aware of the great anniversary that is with
us. So went belowstairs to read
again:

And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed.

(And this taxing was first
made when Cyrenius was governor of Syria.)

And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city.

And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem (because he was of the house and lineage of David.)

To be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child.

And so it was, that while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.

And she brought forth her
first born son, and wrapped him

in swaddling-clothes, and laid
him in a manger; because there
was no room for them in the inn.

And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

And lo, the angel of the Lord
came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone around about
them; and they were sore afraid.

And the angel said unto them,
Fear not: for behold, I bring
you good tidings of great joy,
which shall be to all people.

For unto you is born this day,
in the city of David, a Savior,
which is Christ the Lord.

And this shall be a sign unto
you: Ye shall find the babe
wrapped in swaddling clothes,
lying in a manger.

And suddenly there was with
the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying,

Glory to God in the highest,
and on earth peace, good will
toward men.

And it came to pass, as the
angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds
said one to another, Let us now
go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us.

And they came with haste,
and found Mary and Joseph, and
the babe lying in a manger.

And when they had seen it,
they made known abroad the
saying which was told them
concerning this child.

And all they that heard it,
wondered at these things which
were told them by the shepherds.

But Mary kept all these things, and pondered them in
her heart.

And the shepherds returned,
glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told
unto them.

Glory to God in the highest,
and on earth peace, good will
toward men.

The BLOODHOUNDS Bay
By WALTER S. MASTERMAN

CHAPTER 31

REID was lying on a couch,
and as his eyes opened he saw, as
in a dream, a man with his back
to him wringing out a blood-stained towel in a basin. The room seemed strangely familiar,
and he gradually recalled the appearance of the place. Then full recollection came back and he knew he was in his cottage. It all seemed strange. He tried to move and a deadly pain shot
through him, causing him to give
a gasp.

The man at the table turned,
and Reid recognized him, as in a dream, the face of Selden. He wanted to laugh, it was so funny.
Selden came and knelt by his side. "Thank goodness! You've had a close call; you must be made of iron."

"You saved my life," Reid
gasped feebly.

"Only just in time. My word,
those brutes nearly had you!"

"But how did you get there?"
Selden took his wrist in his finger and thumb and felt the pulse. "You'll do," he said cheerfully; "but no questions now, and no talking. I've bound you up as well as I can, having taken the liberty of tearing one of your sheets into strips; I've had experience in first aid. Lie still now.
You'll have to have a proper doctor."

"Nonsense, Selden." He moved
his arm stiffly and it caused excruciating pain, but there were no
bones broken, thank goodness. He was lying wrapped in a blanket,
and his tattered clothes, blood-
stained and saturated, lay in a heap on the floor.

Suddenly he sat up and seized Selden's arm. "Man, I can't stay
here—the light must go!"

"That's all right," Selden spoke soothingly as to a child.
"You don't understand—I'm not raving. Sylvia—Miss Lawrence
put a light in her window, and
that was the sign that danger
threatened. I must go."

Selden smiled. "Not like that.
But are you serious?"

"Deadly so. I was detained at the Colonel's house and escaped,
but the devil set his hounds on me."

"I thought as much," Selden said
quietly, but his face was grimly
set. "That will have to wait. Like other things; but tell me about the light."

In rapid words Reid sketched
the situation, and Selden's quick brain needed no help.

His face was grave. "I saw the light, but could not guess the meaning, of course. You can't possibly move from here. Why,
those brutes have bitten you almost to the bone in your arm and leg."

Reid made an effort to rise, but
sank back with a groan.

Selden patted him gently. "I know what you feel like—it's maddening; but, my dear fellow, you can't do impossibilities."

"These bites hurt like the devil,"
Reid gritted his teeth in pain.

"Of course they do, and I've cauterized them, always make a point of carrying a first aid out-

fit. I don't want you to get hydrophobia. Reid sank back, sick and giddy,
and a groan he could not repress
broke from him.

"I must go—that is if you think
you can be left," Selden said.
"Never mind me. I should only be a hindrance in my state. Yes,
you must go."

"How did you propose to get in touch with Miss Lawrence?" Selden purposely moved to the table
as he spoke, and replaced the articles he had taken from his first aid dressing case. "I can't very well go to the front door and arouse them with my ring," he added.

Reid remained silent. To tell Selden meant revealing a secret
that might place his very life in jeopardy, but without that secret Selden could not get into the house. He heard the other speaking in a half joking manner.

"Had you arranged to swim the lake, like Leander, and was Hero
going to lower you a rope?"

"No, Selden, I have a means of getting into the house. I must tell you, though it may lead to
your having suspicions of me."

"Perhaps," Selden said slowly,
"I know more than you think.
Reid, tell me as a friend, not as a detective. I promise to respect your confidence."

In spite of the tight grip Reid
was holding over himself, something like a sob escaped him.
"You're a white man, Selden," he gasped.

"You're very weak, old fellow.
Lie still while I'm gone, and I will leave you my automatic; no, you must have it," he urged as the other made a gesture of protest.

"I shall manage."

Time pressed, they both knew it,
and there was no opportunity for explanations. Reid told Selden
about the cellar and the loose bars,
and Selden needed no coaching.

He rose to his feet. "I don't like leaving you, but this matter
must be investigated. I can't understand the light burning all this time. It seems to indicate that Miss Lawrence, though perhaps in danger, has not been more than that."

"Find out—that's a good fellow," Reid said urgently.

"I'll go at once."

"I won't keep you, but tell me
one thing—I shall only worry—
how did you come back from London that very time—in the nick
of time for me?"

Selden laughed. "It's a long
story. I will tell you tomorrow,
but I will leave you with this: I have never left the village at all,
except to go to London to get
some clothes."

"Good lord!"

"No more now," Selden said,
laughing. "Lock the door behind me if you can manage it, and I've left the flask if you feel faint."

He closed the door behind him and
went out into the storm.

Selden followed the track
through the woods, partly for the shelter it afforded, and because he knew this would bring him out on the lake side.

Once there he followed the edge
till he stood exactly opposite the place indicated by Reid. The light

still burnt steadily in the window,
calmly and reassuringly.

The water into which he slipped
quietly was not cold, for this storm
had succeeded a long period of hot weather. He swam steadily
across and reached the dark walls
of the Abbey that rose straight and grim from the water. Feeling
his way carefully he came to the cellar window and removed the bars.

Reid's directions had been plain,
and Selden was quick in taking instructions. He emerged, dripping, into the corridor. Everything was absolutely quiet, and he wondered whether either Reid or Sylvia had gone wrong about the signal. He stole up the stairs, but the groaning of the old place and
the fierceness of the storm
drowned any slight sounds, and he found himself outside the door
that Reid had told him was Sylvia's sitting room, to which she had moved with the children.

He opened the door softly and looked in. An electric reading
lamp had been moved to the sill
of one of the windows, and the light shone out over the lake. The window curtain had been pulled back over the light, and the room
was in partial darkness, but there was sufficient to show that nothing had been disturbed. It was neat and orderly as Sylvia had left
it when she had tidied up after the turbulent twins had gone to bed.

Selden breathed a sigh of relief.

Sylvia's bedroom, he knew,
opened on one side, and the children's on the other, the whole
suite having in the old days been reserved for special visitors. Selden felt that his position was equivocal. It would have been in order for Reid to have come, after having agreed to do so, but he,
Selden, had no status in the house,
and there might be some difficulty
in explaining his presence. It was,
to say the least, unprofessional.

But things had gone too far for hesitation, and he hoped that Sylvia, like a sensible girl, would not shriek if she saw him.

He opened the door on the right
and peeped in. Not a sound
greeted him, not even breathing.

Sudden alarm seized him and he switched on the light. Two beds
stood side by side, and each bed
had been slept in, the sheets and
blankets had been turned back,
and the marks of their heads on
the pillows could be seen. They were nowhere in the room, but there were no marks of violence
or disorder. For a moment he hoped that the children had gone
to Sylvia's room, and he stole
across the sitting room to the other bedroom.

Then he saw that the door was not closed—in the half light he had not seen that. He pushed it gently open and crept in. Then he hurriedly switched on the light and
stood gazing at the scene.

The room was empty, but
clothes were lying about, hurriedly
thrown down, and the place was in a state of riot, as though some wild comp had taken place. Sylvia and the children were nowhere in
the three rooms, nor in the bathroom.

Christmas

Christmas comes again to remind us that a
child was born, a child that was to personify
the gentler attributes of man. Faith and love,
patience and tolerance, and good will to our fellow man. Sometimes these gentler attributes seem to be forgotten. But as each of us grows older we learn how great these intangibles indisputably are. And as mankind grows older,
we observe the progress we are making, slow
though it be.

"BOWL" GAMES NEW YEAR'S DAY TO BREAK ATTENDANCE RECORDS

281,200 Persons To Fill Stands

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—(UP)—All attendance records for post-season football games will be broken by the New Year's day program of bowl battles.

The eight bowl games—including the East-West charity game at San Francisco—will attract an estimated throng of 281,200 persons. The Rose Bowl game remains the daddy of the post-season battles despite the increasing popularity of New York's day football carnivals. With all tickets sold a capacity crowd of 55,500 will see the game at Pasadena between Pittsburgh and Washington.

Others To Sell-Out
Five other bowl games promise to be sell-outs, with only the east-west affair at San Francisco and the Bacardi bowl game at Havana failing to play to packed stadiums. Even though the east-west game won't fill Kezar stadium, it will attract a throng of 50,000, the second largest crowd New Year's day.

The Bacardi bowl game at Havana between Auburn and Villanova probably will attract a crowd of about 25,000. Temporary seats increasing the capacity to 32,000 have been built. The promoter expects 14,000 natives, 6,500 tourists and 2,500 from the American colony to attend.

The Sugar Bowl game at New Orleans and the Cotton Bowl game at Dallas will vie for the day's third largest throng. The Sugar Bowl affair between Louisiana State and Santa Clara will attract a capacity crowd of 41,000. At Dallas approximately 25,000 seats have been sold for the Cotton bowl battle between Marquette and Texas Christian. The Dallas stadium seats 46,700.

The demand for tickets to the Orange bowl game at Miami between Mississippi State and Duquesne has caused the promoters to increase the normal seating capacity of 15,000 to 17,000.

EMERY CLUB WINS 32-18

ILLINOIS PLANS TO ALTER CAGE FIVE'S ATTACK

CHICAGO, Dec. 24.—(UP)—Illinois' fiery basketball squad, checked by De Paul in a rampant campaign against non-conference teams, began to reconstruct its vulnerable razzle-dazzle today for the opening of the Big Ten season after the Christmas holidays.

De Paul discovered quickly the high-scoring Illini were helpless against a cautious game and rolled up a 31 to 25 victory before the title contenders solved their style.

Minnesota snapped its three game losing streak at Omaha by whipping Creighton, 34 to 23, but Butler gave Wisconsin its second straight defeat, 43 to 23. In the only other game involving Big Ten teams, Michigan won the rubber game of three with Washington at Seattle, 39 to 33.

Only four Big Ten teams—Purdue, Indiana, Northwestern and Iowa—remain undefeated.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

Now listen, old friends 'Tis Christmas today, And it doesn't matter, What other folks say—

About This And That In Many Sports

DEAR SANTA CLAUS:

There are dozens of things you can toss into your now overflowing bag to present Circleville and Pickaway county sports-lovers—You could start by uncovering a few basketball players at the high school, at least enough to make Jack Landrum a pennant contender in the Central Buckeye league—You would be welcomed with open arms if you could produce another Don Henry for next year's football backfield, and give him enough blocking to, at least, spring him into the open once in a while—The finest present you offer the high school though, would be a new gymnasium—This need has been stressed more than any other for many years—Central Buckeye league opponents laugh at the high school gym, and every time the team steps on the Athletic Club court it costs mazzuma—Speaking of the Athletic Club, why couldn't you bring us some basketball teams to represent the CAC, providing cagers as good as Art Steele, Dick Robinson, Judy Gordon, Eve Merriman, Jim Gattrell and several others were in their prime, or going back to the days of Dick Baker, Ray O'Daffer, Johnny Lamparter, Jack Messick, Johnny Crawford, and even farther to the time when Henry Roundhouse thrilled the fans—You might even make the CAC grunt-slug promoters a gift of a bout between Everett Marshall and some other title claimant—Dear Santa: we could go on indefinitely asking you for presents for our sports-lovers—You might drop a well-lighted field on which to play softball into your kit, and bring along a pitcher as good as Leroy Oliver and an infielder as scrappy as Martin Hickey—A country club golf team that could drub Washington C. H., London, Lancaster, Chillicothe and a few more neighboring cities would be appreciated—Then you would gladden many hearts if you produced a local golfer who could go far in major tournaments—Another Jimmy Smith of the bowling alleys would add much to the sports scene—Please, too, Santa, don't forget our newly-organized rifle club, and give it a few perfect marksmen—Put your blessing on the fox drive at South Bloomfield Saturday, and the same thing goes for that at South Perry the following week—A basketball team at Ashville as good as last year's club would be greeted with hilarity, and a championship team at Washington township to replace those which have been trying hard, but fruitlessly for many years would be timely—And lastly, Santa, a championship football team in the stocking of Francis Schmidt, Ohio State football coach, would be welcomed—

That's all... except to sit back and wait for results which won't be long in coming because nearly everyone reads the Herald Classified Ads.
